SMEC’s Asset Management team in South America has secured a further three contracts in the region.

SMEC continues its expansion into the Chemical and Explosives industry with the award of a nine-month contract by one of the largest rock fragmentation and Nitrate producers in South America. SMEC will review the supply chain and systems to deliver improvements at four of the client’s plants in Chile. The contract consists of master data cleansing, review of warehouse and inventory areas, and analysis of critical spare parts including cataloguing and coding.

SMEC has been engaged to develop maintenance plans for a client’s Copper and Molybdenum plants located in northern Chile. The project consists of the development and implementation of maintenance plans for the mechanical, electrical, instrumentation and lubricant conditioning monitoring areas at the plants over a six-month period. This is SMEC’s fifth contract for this key client.

SMEC continues to reinforce its long-term relationship with one of the world’s largest copper producers, with the award of a contract at its mine in northern Chile. The contract requires SMEC to expand the current inventory and cataloguing at the mine site to include an additional 8,000 parts, where we are currently undertaking a similar project.

Ronald Galisky, President for Asset Management South America added, “These project wins are the result of our strategic long term relationships with clients, and our approach of continually delivering value.”
